EASSW Statement regarding high registration rates for the SWSD conference, Dublin2018

Dear EASSW Members,

During the last weeks we received several inquiries regarding the high registration rates for the SWSD conference that will be held this year in Dublin.

We want to emphasize that the EASSW considers the conference registration rates as unacceptable high with the consequence this might be inaccessible for many because of the financial reasons.

Social work conferences should be widely accessible and inclusive for social workers and social work educators from all around the world. Saying this we think the registration rates should be very carefully determined having in mind real circumstances and affordability to many of our colleagues.

Since the members of the EASSW Executive Committee members participate in the work of the IASSW board we used the chance to raise the question of the high registration rates. We have expressed our dissatisfaction and demanded for this to be changed.

We truly hope that the voice of many worried colleagues will be heard and our partner associations will reconsider a reduction of the rates.

The EASSW
European Association of Schools of Social Work.
